In a single street in London, separated by a wall, are the homes of two of history’s most significant musical artists and a unique venue for your next event.

25 Brook Street is the house that belonged to George Frederic Handel and the place where he composed some of the world’s most enduring Baroque music, including Messiah. On the top floor of 23 Brook Street is the flat where, two centuries later, Jimi Hendrix lived with his girlfriend, record player and guitar. Both were the homes of musical innovators who chose London and changed music.

After opening to the public in November 2001 as Handel House, and the recent addition of the Hendrix Flat in 2016, 23 & 25 Brook Street now co-exist together as a museum space that celebrates two of the history’s most remarkable musicians.

The building is composed of a series of atmospheric rooms, each reconstructed to feel as if the iconic musicians have just left. Our location in the heart of Mayfair provides a bustling backdrop for our truly unique and exciting venue.

Whether you wish to host a drinks reception, conduct a business meeting or take over the whole house for the ultimate party experience, our experienced team can help make your event truly unforgettable.
Handel House occupies two floors of 25 Brook Street, the building in which George Frederic Handel lived from 1723 until his death in 1759. The four restored historic rooms include his bedroom, composition room, and the music room in which he rehearsed his musicians and singers and often gave informal recitals for friends and neighbours.

“Handel’s suite of rooms had the feeling of his presence....”

Hendrix Flat

The Hendrix Flat occupies the upper floor of 23 Brook Street, in which Jimi Hendrix lived from July 1968 to March 1969. The main room of the flat where he lived, entertained friends, rehearsed and wrote new music has been restored to look exactly as it was in 1969 and a permanent exhibition introduces Hendrix's place in the musical and social world of 1960s London.

“...the essence of Jimi was magical.”

Group Tours

Self-Guided Option

With the self-guided entry, you can pre-book tickets in groups of up to 20 for the normal entry price (£10 per head). If you would like to bring more than 20 people you can stagger the groups. This option is a normal visit to the museum, talking to our volunteers in the rooms on a self-guided visit available from Monday-Saturday, 11am-5pm.

Group Visits

We currently offer guided private group visits of the Handel Rooms, with the option of an additional short introduction to the Hendrix Flat followed by an opportunity for all members of the group to visit that too, if they wish to. Guided visits of the Handel Rooms for private groups last slightly over an hour and can be booked for a maximum of 20 people at the following times:

- 10am, Mon-Fri: £350 per group
- 11am to 4pm, Mon-Fri: £450 per group

All group visits need to be booked a minimum of one month in advance.

Recital Options

A private recital will cost £200 (for one musician). Any additional musicians are £100 each. Recitals last 30 minutes and take place in our historic rooms.

“…the volunteer was knowledgeable and outgoing... my time with him was probably the best conversation I had in London.”
